THERAPY

ESSENTIALS

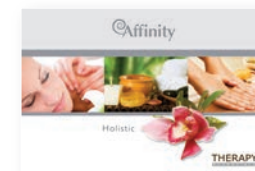

All Affinity plinths have evolved from a real understanding of what you, as therapists / practitioners, want and, more importantly, what you expect from a leading brand. We are passionate about what we do and incredibly proud of our reputation for quality, reliability, innovation and unquestionable value. Years of development and research into materials, design and technology, as well as working closely with you has enabled us to create a superb range of Affinity therapy plinths which are now widely used by the UK's leading therapists in private practice, hospices, sports / medical establishments, spas and colleges.

With comfort and wellbeing of client / patient our prime consideration, our ergonomic designs are engineered to ensure your own comfort too, with many innovative ideas for close work and posture support. We know that a comfortable therapist will always give a better quality of treatment and a comfortable client will be more relaxed and get more from the treatment!

Thank you for your interest in Affinity. Full product information and specifications can be found on our website www.therapyessentials.co.uk or from the distributor listed in the box below.

Lucy says:

"I am so pleased with the couch, it is very comfortable, it was ready to use immediately, I just needed to plug it in. The couch is used by an osteopath and a beauty therapist, and it works well for both of them."

"I recently ordered a Sports Pro massage plinth and I'm really pleased with the product. It's really sturdy and easy to operate; I'm confident that it will last me the rest of my massage therapy career. At present, I'm using it for holistic massage treatments, but will soon begin training for a sports and remedial massage therapy qualification, so will use it for my case studies and then my clients."

"Sidmouth Football Club love their Athlete. Having searched the internet for a few weeks & looked at various tables & manufacturers I decided on this table. It is both strong & lightweight at the same time enabling me to perform rigorous massage therapy as well as being easy to move about the club to use in different changing rooms - it sets up within seconds. The players were impressed with the high quality look & comfort of the table. The shape of the table is ideal to get in close to the players when working on them & the face cradle is ideal for using when working on their legs so that they can rest their heads whilst being treated with the back rest elevated. Great purchase all round."

Affinity 8

Ergonomic • Robust • Versatile

"We recently purchased an Affinity 8 table to keep at home for regular acupuncture and sports massage treatments; not only were both therapists very impressed with the quality and style of the table but it was also heaven to lie on and better than any rented table that I have previously used. The table is also perfect to fold away and transport (surprisingly light!) which is a huge plus."
