STRATEGIES FOR BETTER EXERCISE COMPLIANCE

with Karen Grinter

Live Event:
Learning With Others

Summary

This discussion was aimed at devising or modifying rehab exercises for the hip and lower limb in patients where pain could be an obstacle to compliance. A number of exercises were demonstrated, including some using "therabands" or an incline device. The benefits for pelvic floor improvement were also outlined.

Evaluation, Reflection and Impact on Practice (this part of the certificate is not automatically generated - it has been entered by the participant)

As a result of this training, I have a better idea of simple modifications to rehab exercises which might improve compliance in elderly patients or those whose pain impairs their mobility. This will be very helpful in my clinic
