

CPD EVENT RECORD

SAFETY & QUALITY IN PRACTICE: PUTTING PATIENTS FIRST

with Sandra Harding and Sarah Tribe

Live Event:
Learning
With Others

Summary

This broadcast covered some of the most important aspects of the Chiropractic Code and Osteopathic Practice Standards. Aspects of valid/informed consent were debated, and the issue of "Gillick competence" was explained. The need for appropriate policies covering matters such as equality and diversity, as well as privacy were discussed. The benefits and dangers of recording consultations, whether by audio or video means, were weighed up and the law surrounding this explained.

Evaluation, Reflection and Impact on Practice (this part of the certificate is not automatically generated - it has been entered by the participant)

Some aspects of the law are difficult to understand fully and often are even more difficult to implement practically in a clinic setting. This discussion not only clarified some key issues around consent, but helped me reflect on the policies that I should have in place to ensure best practice.
