Case-Based Discussion

Live Event:
Learning
With Others

This discussion considered a number of neurological cases: MS, Parkinsons and FND (Functional Neurological Deficit) in particular.

As is often the case, it was emphasised that MSK therapy can be very important in improving quality of life, but it is important that practitioners make clear the limits of their competence and the extent to which they feel intervention might be beneficial.

It was also appreciated that examining patients with neurological problems was a very useful and important learning experience, which informs care of other patients.
